A) Awareness of Values

		strongly agree	agree	do not know	disagree	strongly disagree
A 1	The most important thing in life is to be free to decide for oneself.
A 2	To ensure equal opportunities for all citizens I would be prepared to pay higher taxes.
A 3	Democracy is not conducive to decision making.
A 4	Money is essential to be free.
A 5	Important political decisions should be made by the EU.
A 6	If you criticise someone's religion, do not be surprised if there is retaliation.
A 7	A citizen working abroad should still be subject to the laws of his/ her country of origin.
A 8	Women should be given the same wages for the same work as men.
A 9	In our country large companies are more influential than government.
A10	In sickness or in old age people should rely more on the family, as state help cannot be depended upon.
A11	The EU is a threat to our democratic right to self-determination, if more and more decision-making takes place in Brussels.
A12	If others spread themselves out in our neighbourhood, it might be necessary to use violence to show them who is boss.
A13	One person one vote also for the European Parliamentary elections!
A14	If jobs are scarce, employers should take on workers from our own country and not foreigners.
A15	The open borders within the EU have brought us no advantages, only more criminals and smuggling of drugs and people.
A16	It is a personal choice if muslim students decide not to participate in sports or excursions for religious reasons.
A17	More than four or five political parties in a parliament hinder decision- making rather than help it.
A18	The unemployed should accept any work offered to them, or else their unemployment benefits should be stopped.

		strongly agree	agree	do not know	disagree	strongly disagree
A19	A religion claiming to be better than others is a threat to peace.
A20	Solidarity with people of my own nationality is more important to me than it is with other people who also live here.
A21	My parents restrict my freedom quite a lot.
A22	In the EU individual citizens have very little influence on important political issues
A23	Foreigners enrich a society by bringing in new ideas.
A24	The state should take more responsibility for the social security of every citizen.
A25	Freedom of movement in the EU is one of its best features.
A26	Only the forces of the market can guarantee a fair distribution of goods.
A27	There is nothing wrong with imposing arranged marriages.
A28	Every country in the EU should be completely free to make its own decisions.
A29	If I had a job in a car factory in a country in eastern Europe, it would be all the same to me if jobs in the same firm were lost in Germany or Sweden.
A30	In a democracy everyone should have equal rights.
A31	All monotheistic religions accept human rights without any restrictions.
A32	It is perfectly fair for a car mechanic in Romania to earn only a quarter of the wages that his French colleague receives.
A33	The development of the individual is more important than the common good.
A34	I cannot see no reason why I should give up part of my income out of solidarity with other European peoples.
A35	I find consolation in the fact that after so much injustice on earth there will be compensation with justice in heaven
A36	National educational policy is better than common EU standards.
A37	The society in which I live gives me a lot of freedom.
A38	To ensure social peace in a country it is better if the population is homogenous and there are few foreigners.
A39	The rule of law is undermined when a government restricts specific human rights.
A40	The economy works better without state interference.
A41	In a global world the national state can no longer guarantee the rights of the individual.
A42	The attractiveness of the EU is that it guarantees civil rights.
A43	The quality of democracy can be seen in the freedom of opinion and of its press
A44	Standards of learning are lowered in classes with many immigrants.
A45	There are clear principles of good and evil. These are valid for everyone everywhere.
A46	The division of powers is necessary to guarantee legal rights.
A47	It is a personal choice to wear religious symbols/ clothing.
A48	Some states are so weak that civil rights are not guaranteed.
A49	Non-EU nationals with the right of permanent residency in an EU country should have the same rights as EU citizens.

		strongly agree	agree	do not know	disagree	strongly disagree
A50	There should be equal taxes across the EU in order to ensure equal conditions of competition.
A51	I feel very close to members of my own religion, regardless of whether they are rich or poor, educated or uneducated, right or left-wing.
A52	Equalizing wage scales across the EU would be a good thing for all citizens.
A53	In a democracy there is more opportunity for the individual to develop than under any other form of government.
A54	My national identity is more important to me than European citizenship.
A55	To act in a moral way, I do not need to have a religion.
A56	In Cyprus, the Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots follow the interests of their governments. I think this is the correct way to behave.
A57	The values that I learned at the place where I grew up influence the way I behave very much.
A58	The EU should wait until the Balkan countries first fix their problems with corruption, drug and people trafficking by themselves; then it can allow them to become EU members.
A59	The values that people use to guide their behaviour are best discovered when there is wide political discussion.
A60	Everyone who has a television should pay for the service so that it does not depend on a few private companies.
A61	Every citizen who works in an EU state must be allowed to decide individually how much money to save for a future pension.
A62	When women act against family honour, men must be allowed to punish them.
A63	Today, it makes no sense to fight for this or that piece of land in a country to say: „It is mine!“; in our globalised world, we need totally different values.
A64	In my opinion, poor EU member states should be allowed to offer low taxes and financial help to attract industry to their country.
A65	I think it is correct that the interests of the people who put the capital into a company are at the top of the list when changes in the company must be made.
A66	For me there is no higher value than the honour of my family.
A67	Rich EU countries should pay into a development fund to lift the standard of living in the poorer member states.
A68	My homeland is not so important to me when I know that all the people around me think in the same way as myself.
A69	It is best for democracy when only private business persons have television stations and the press.

A nation-state should give PRIORITY to which of the following?

D) Teaching methods

Within the framework of teaching on values we need to find out what teaching method has the most advantages. Please judge according to your teaching experience so far what advantages the various methods have.

In the following you will find a series of statements. Please tick the ones that are most pertinent in connection with teaching on values. Please read all the statements through first before you tick against your choice.

If a statement is not at all or only very slightly relevant, then do not tick this line. If the statement is particularly true in the light of your teaching experience, you can tick up to three times according to your measure of agreement.

1. Lessons with the teacher standing in front of the class.

Advantages

D11	The choice of content of individual lessons by the teacher has clearer aims.
D12	The content of each lesson is relatively large.
D13	Concepts can be illustrated quickly for all students by the teacher.
D14	The level of knowledge at the end of the lesson is the same for all students.
D15	The teacher can check learning progress continually by his own questions and by the students' answers.
D16	The teaching contents are presented in a structural form.

2. Group teaching

Advantages

D21	Group teaching promotes mental agility; students arrive at their own observations and conclusions.
D22	Group teaching respects the learning rhythms of individual students.
D23	Group teaching is fun, because students can help one another.
D24	Group teaching encourages the ability to organize and work in a team.
D25	Group teaching promotes interaction and communication.
D26	Knowledge acquired through group work is remembered longer.
